

Car Control Clinic – What to Expect

Goals

Our goal is simple: Audi Club Glacier Lakes driving events are designed and offered to educate, build skills and promote the application of driving techniques on the street that go beyond what is typically taught in driver education courses. Car Control Clinics may be referred to as Teen Car Control Clinics or Adult Car Control Clinics or another variation depending on the audience targeted for the event.

You should never be just a “passenger” in a car that you are driving. The technology integrated into cars today gives vehicles capabilities far above those required for relatively safe everyday driving. That said, as the driver you still need to be prepared to take decisive action behind the wheel when you experience an unexpected or adverse situation on the road. Rather than panicking or doing nothing, students will learn to be pro-active and take corrective action.

Our educational car control clinics are designed to incorporate prescribes exercises duplicating adverse conditions - in a controlled environment. This allows you to more readily identify such situations and build driving skills intended to help you maintain car control.

We neither promote nor condone illegal driving activities (e.g., speeding, texting while driving, etc.).

Who can participate?

Students may or may not be required to be members of Audi Club North America (ACNA) to participate in this skill-enhancing event. Please see the registration requirements for the specific event you will be attending. Some events allow non-members to participate, with members receiving a discount on entry fees.

Teens are welcome to participate in Car Control Clinics with a valid learner’s permit or driver’s license. Teens can also qualify for membership-required clinics if their parent or legal guardian is an ACNA Member. (Not yet a member? Sign up here!)

What Happens at this Event?

We use the Dakota County Technical College closed circuit driving course to provide a safe, controlled and structured environment for our students. The event is held regardless of weather unless there is severe weather concern, which the staff monitors closely. Please arrive on time.

When you arrive, head directly inside the classroom for registration. The volunteer at registration will check the student in and confirm the necessary waiver(s) are signed. (An electronic waiver link will be sent to the student, or parent(s) when registering for the event.) A name tag to wear, a schedule for the day and a color-coded group assignment (designated “run group”) will be provided at registration. Help yourself to a breakfast snack and mingle with other attendees while check-in wraps up. [Note: Teens under 18 years of age must have a parent/legal guardian onsite for the entire event.]

At 8:00 a.m. the session will begin. Introductions will be made, and students will meet their assigned instructors. Next, students will go to their car with their instructor to prepare the vehicle for the car control exercises. Typically this time will include personal introductions looking over the car for things like proper tire inflation and working lights and signals, and making sure that there are no loose objects anywhere in the vehicle.

Students then head back to the classroom for a quick session on car control basics. After the classroom session, students and their instructors head to the driving course to experience concepts discussed in the classroom and put into practice driving techniques that help maintain car control.

This driving clinic mimics actual driving conditions on the street and is designed to probe the limits of the car and the driver under safe, controlled conditions. The purpose is to get the students accustomed to the experience of having to deal with adverse situations on the road. Students will be doing a lot of driving, repeating the same exercises to understand and develop “muscle memory” or instinctive reactions.

Parents of teen drivers attending the clinics are encouraged to sit in on the classroom sessions. They will be asked to volunteer to replace directional cones back into position if drivers inadvertently “relocate” them. Don’t worry, these are traffic cones made of soft material and generally do not damage vehicles. It is inevitable that drivers run over or contact the cones; this generally indicates a need for some type of correction. Learning is what this Car Control Clinic is all about!

A box-type lunch (typically sandwich & chips) is provided by Audi Club Glacier Lakes for all attendees, including parents/volunteers.

After lunch, students head back to the classroom for another short session on car control basics. Then it’s back to the driving course for more practice.

Note: If a student wants to switch instructors – at any time during the event, for any reason – please talk to the Event Master. Not every instructor will meet the needs of every student. Please do not hesitate to ask for a different instructor. We will be glad to help find a better fit for you and your learning style.
